Van der Vaart: Happy at Spurs

It had been suggested the Holland international could move on this month, with AC Milan leading the chase for his signature.

The 28-year-old has encountered the odd run-in with Harry Redknapp, but he insists everything is &quot;fine&quot; with his manager.

The former Real Madrid and Hamburg man believes Redknapp is doing an amazing job at the helm.

Van der Vaart is aware of the rumours with Spurs flying high near the top of the table - and he does not want to miss out on the title chase.

&quot;It's not true that I could be leaving in January,&quot; explained van der Vaart.

&quot;Of course there are rumours when you are third in the table and you play good football.

"People are always going to look and they are interested in the players of Tottenham, but this season nobody wants to leave - we are close to something special.

"Of course I want to stay here. Everybody feels that we have a great team and it is really fun to play here - we have big players, experienced players and Harry is doing a great job.

"Sometimes you can have a little problem with the manager, but you talk to each other and everything is fine.

"Harry is doing an amazing job at Spurs and this season it feels that something more can happen."
